

A SUNDAY CONCERT

Should the weather be favorable, the Grand Rapids band will give a concert on Sunday afternoon. Now a concert place on the first day that motorists are able to make of June in Chicago, where they are on Sunday, it is possible that if making their home, Mr. Bischoff the weather was good there would be a former member of the Marquette band, a good crowd out for an event of this kind.

Dr. J. E. Goodrich and wife returned from a fishing trip in the do some yard work. (The Tribune is a part of the staff.)

BIG CROWD WAS OUT TO SEE PRESENTATION

There was an immense crowd of people out to see the flag presentation last Thursday evening when Dr. Von Neupert of Stevens Point, the presentation was made by Capt. Orthman of Co. A of Stevens Point, who made an interesting address in connection with the ceremony.

It was expected that the Stevens Point company would be over and take part in the ceremony, but after promising to come they found that they had figured on to get a special train to carry the number that had intended to come, so that the idea was abandoned, and those that did come were disappointed.

The local company, with the assistance of the band gave guard mount and retreat parade on the market square, and an interesting and well timed parade of the program, although much of the interest was taken from the matter on account of the growing darkness.

The flag presentation occurred at the conclusion of the parade. During his talk Capt. Orthman gave a short history of the donor of the flag, Dr. Von Neupert, a German by birth, and for a number of years a member of the German army, having risen to the rank of major. After coming to this country he took up the study of medicine and renounced allegiance to his mother country and for many years has been one of the real patriots of Stevens Point.

After the flag presentation there was a free dance given by Company K, and the large force of the amusement for the evening was a game of football, which was played until a late hour, and everybody reported a most enjoyable time.

WOOD COUNTY SHOWS UP WELL AT THE STATE FAIR

S. G. Corey of the Wood County Agricultural show has just returned from the Milwaukee State fair and bears an interesting report on the result of the county exhibit.

Twenty-six counties competed, and closer competition is seldom found. St. Croix county won first place by a score of 2651.5. Wood county scored 2570. Wood county lost first place by a difference of 81.5 points. When it is realized that Waupesa and Sauk counties ranked between St. Croix and Wood counties, fourth place should be a source of gratification to us all.

INDIANS HAVE SMALLPOX

John Cloud, an Indian living near Valley Junction, died on Monday from smallpox, and after looking into the matter down in that country it is stated that a number of Indians have apparently had the disease and more are sick with it, although it is impossible to tell how many. Most of the cases have been rather light, and little or no attention has been paid to them, and in most cases no physician has been called. The circumstances are especially bad at this time of the year as most of the Indians are away from home, many of them assisting in harvesting crops.

Another thing that makes it bad is the fact that the Indians are being made to go to the children to go to school which is always a difficult task, and now they will have to be vaccinated, which will delay matters somewhat.

Another death occurred among the Indians on Tuesday when Bay W. Hopland, a fourteen year old girl, died in the town of Crimmon. She was a step daughter, but for some time past had been making her home with A. White, who lives about seven miles west of this city.

BACK HOME FROM FRANCE

The first man to return to this city from France was Capt. Jack Carrigan, who spent Sunday with his friends in this city and Port Washington. Carrigan, who was in the 1st Division, where a number of his friends assembled to greet him and to hear what there was to be told about things over in France.

Captain Carrigan was with Troop C, at which time he was first lieutenant, and was promoted to captain only a short time ago, he having taken great interest in his work and proven himself of real value in the service. He was right in the fight at Cateau-Thierry and did his share of the work at that point. It is needless to say that the boys here enjoyed his short visit and were glad to see him back among them. He left on Sunday evening for Washington, and will be stationed in this country for a time, having been appointed as instructor in artillery.

WAS OVER ESTIMATED

Although the estimated registration figures all over the country were some what more than the number that actually registered, it was not over half a million in the whole country, which is nothing to get scared about, in view of the fact that those that did register will total about thirteen million.

It was expected that in Wood county there would be a total of about 3900, but the number registered totaled 3776. Grand Rapids showed a total of 792 and Marshfield 777, indicating that the population of the two towns is not a great deal different.

It is worthy of note that the registration all over the country was carried out without the least friction, and there was no more trouble than there is at an ordinary election.

DEMOCRATS HOLD MEETING

The democrats of Wood County held a meeting in this city last Tuesday, although the attendance was not as large as was expected. W. E. Wheeler of this city was elected chairman of the county committee, and H. B. Mich was elected secretary and treasurer. Resolutions were passed pledging the support of the local organization to President Wilson and commending the manner in which he had handled the problems connected with the war and asking that the same be prosecuted to a satisfactory finish. The meeting was a most harmonious one in every respect.

TIME DRAWING NEAR

It looks very much as if the old soak was going to have a strenuous time of it in the near future. Now that the president has ordered the breweries to stop making beer on the first of October, the last hope of the inebriate has been dashed to the ground. When the order went forth to stop using grain for whiskey there were many that thought that the would end the matter and that beer would always be made, and it was to this belief that they pinned their hope. However, the latest order has destroyed the only chance, there was, until after the war, at least.

INCREASED PAY FOR NURSES IN TRAINING

The directors of the Riverview hospital voted to increase the pay of the nurses who are taking their training in the Riverview Training school. Beginning October 1, the first year students will receive twelve dollars a month, the second year students will receive thirteen dollars a month, and the Senior or third year nurses will draw sixteen dollars a month. The nurses have heretofore received six dollars a month, and a like amount has been deposited every month to the credit of each nurse so that when the course was finished, the graduate received the deposit of $216.00 in one lump. This plan will now be discontinued and the whole amount will be paid on regular pay days (twice a month).

In addition to the very fine training which is given in Riverview Training school, each nurse spends four months of her senior year in the Illinois Training school for nurses at Cook County hospital, Chicago, and during those four months she remains on the pay roll of Riverview hospital, drawing sixteen dollars a month. The large hospitals do not as a rule pay anything to the nurses while they are taking their course of training, and it is therefore a distinct advantage to enter our own local institution.

Our Training school is recognized and listed by the Wisconsin State Board of nursing, and our nurses are permitted to take the state examination and obtain the U. S. degree conferred by law upon the regularly trained and registered nurse.

A directory of all the trained and so-called "practical" nurses will be kept in the Riverview hospital and anyone wishing to employ a nurse may apply to Mrs. Franklin of the house of the local physicians and learn what nurses are available. All nurses in the city are invited to register their names at the hospital and to keep the hospital informed when they are open to accept a new case.

NOTICE TO REGISTRANTS

When you receive your questionnaire read it over carefully together with all instructions and complete and promptly answer every question rapidly and if you intend to claim deferred classification have the necessary witnesses with you. If all registrants will follow these instructions it will save time and trouble for the registrants and for the Legal Advisory Board.

Yours very truly,
George L. Williams,
Chairman Local Advisory Board.

35 KILLED ON U. S. TRANSPORT

Senator Lewis Among Those Who Landed Safely From the Mount Vernon.

WAS ATTACKED OFF FRANCE

Former German Liner Was Torpedoed by U-Boat While Homeward Bound—Returned Safely to Port.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Thirty-five persons, principally members of the German crew of the U. S. S. Mount Vernon, formerly the German liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie, were killed when the ship was struck by a torpedo Thursday last, 200 miles off the French coast. It was announced on Sunday by the navy department.

The official announcement states that Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois was one of the passengers returning from Europe and is among those reported safely landed.

The Mount Vernon is one of the great German ships taken over by the United States and has been used as a transport. She was on her return to the United States when struck.

The official dispatch from Vice Admiral Sims, however, states:

"The torpedo struck the ship on the starboard side, flooding No. 4 stowage, but the extent of the damage is not stated."

The Mount Vernon has an interesting history. As the Kronprinzessin Cecilie she was a well-known liner plying between the American and English and French ports. On her last attempted voyage to Cherbourg and Plymouth, she was caught at sea by the declaration of war against Germany.

She had on board a considerable amount of gold bars and coin valued at $12,400,000 for account in Europe. She was lost for several days and it was supposed that she had been captured by one of the cruisers of the British North Atlantic squadron. However, she was maneuvered out of sight and took advantage of a fog to dash back to the United States coast. She landed out of a fog one morning on Bar Harbor and got safely within the three-mile limit of the United States.

Following are the names and addresses of men from the central West who were killed:

Peter Joseph Bergmann, Bremen, second class, Madison, Wis.; Daniel Terrell, Bremen, second class, St. Joseph, Mo.; Gustaf Oscar Green, Bremen, first class, Minneapolis, Minn.; John Heath, Bremen, second class, Hunkley, Minn.; Frederick R. Huffmann, Bremen, third class, Newberry, Ind.

STOPS BEER MAKING

ORDER ISSUED TO CONSERVE GRAIN, FUEL AND LABOR.

Manufacturers of Soft Drinks Warned They May Get Less Coal.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Manufacture of beer in the United States will be prohibited after December 1 next as a war measure.

The food administration announced on Friday that the manufacture of beer and other malt liquors will be prohibited after December 1, as a war measure.

This announcement said the decision had been reached at conferences between President Wilson and representatives of the fuel, food and railroad administration and the war industries board. Immediate suspension of the purchase of grains for malting purposes was ordered.

The $12,000,000 emergency agricultural appropriation bill with its rider for national prohibition from next July 1 until the American armies are demobilized after the end of the war was passed by the senate without a roll call.

As a result of the president's action, the supply of malt liquors is likely to be exhausted before the country goes home dry, July 1, under the terms of the "war prohibition" bill.

The manufacturers of soft drinks and other beverages are also warned that they also will suffer curtailment of fuel and containers. Breweries and other plants thus put out of business will be utilized by the government so far as possible for war purposes.

PIRATE CAPTAINS DIE

VENGEANCE FINDS COMMANDERS OF GERMAN SUBMARINES.

One Hundred and Fifty of Them Listed by the British Admiralty.

London, Sept. 7.—Although the British government does not intend to adopt the practice of giving proof of official utterances made by its ministers, it has been thought desirable to print in newspapers the names of the commanding officers of 150 German submarines which have been disposed of.

This is in order to substantiate the statement of Premier Lloyd George in the house of commons that "at least 150 of these ocean pests have been destroyed."

A majority of the 150 officers mentioned are dead. Some are prisoners of war, and a few are interned in neutral countries where they took refuge.

The officers named are:

Kapitan Lieutenant Schweiger, who, while in command of the U-20, torpedoed the Lusitania in May, 1915. The U-20 was lost on the Danish coast in 1910, but Schweiger survived and was in command of the U-80, which was lost with all hands in September, 1917.

Kapitan Lieutenant Paul Wagenfuh, who sank the steamer Belgian Prince July 21, 1917, and drowned 40 of the crew, whom he had ordered to jump on the submarine's deck when the boat was about to submerge. His submarine, the U-44, was sunk with all hands about a fortnight later.

Kapitan Lieutenant Rudolph Schellendorf, who torpedoed the steamer Arabic in August, 1915.

The statement says it is significant that the authors of particularly atrocious crimes have expiated them speedily after their commission.

HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK IN WISCONSIN

Green Bay—Politics is adjourned in Brown county until the close of the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign so far as campaigning under the auspices of the Republican and Democratic county committees is concerned. The chairman of the two parties, M. E. Davies, Republican, and T. A. Delaney, Democrat, have reached an agreement not to arrange any meetings until the drive is concluded. Candidates nominated for county offices will turn in and work for the next loan, and devote only two weeks to campaigning in behalf of their candidacy.

Madison—Fraternalities, green caps and hazing will be among the things missing at the University of Wisconsin this winter. With most of the male students under army regulations, quartered in barracks, dormitories, etc., and the utilization of the fraternity houses by the young women students driven out of their dormitories by the soldiers, fraternity will be impossible. The freshman caps and hazing will be officially tabooed by the university.

BUSY BEES CAN HELP YOU SAVE SUGAR

Three Storehouses That Will Help to Stretch the Sugar Supply.

USE MORE HONEY IN YOUR COOKING

One of Best Substitutes for Sugar to Be Found on Any Farm Is in Apiary.

SEVERAL RECIPES ARE GIVEN

Little Bee Makes It Possible for One to Indulge in Sweets Without Troubling Conscience—Useful in Preserves.

If you keep bees, count yourself fortunate in these days of sugar scarcity. The bees can provide you with one of the best of the sugar substitutes, and will make it possible for you to indulge your taste for sweets without hurting your conscience. With honey to supplement the limited sugar supply, the two pounds per person per month becomes a liberal allowance.

Not only is the honey useful in cakes, as such, either stirred in, or candied, but it lends itself to various combinations that make it practically use in place of sugar.

Baked fruit, such as whole apples with the cores removed; baked whole peaches, or cooked dried fruit are very good sweetened with honey in place of sugar. Preserves made with honey also may be made with honey. Apple or pear preserves made by the following recipe are very good:

Honey Preserves.
2 quarts apple or 1 teaspoonful cinnamon, cut into small pieces
1 cupful sugar
2 cups honey

Heat the honey, vinegar, and cinnamon together and cook the pieces of fruit a few at a time in the syrup until they become transparent. Pour over all the syrup which remains after the fruit is cooked.

Honey may also be used in cake making or for sweetening ice cream, custards or puddings, and in cake and cookie making. In substituting honey for sugar you will get good results if you will follow your old recipes, substituting a cupful of honey for a cupful of sugar and using one-fourth less of whatever liquid the recipe requires.

Soft Honey Custard.
2 cupfuls milk
2 egg yolks
1/4 cupful sugar
1/4 cupful honey

Mix the honey, eggs and milk. Scald the milk and pour it over the eggs. Cook in a double boiler until the mixture thickens.

This custard is suitable for use in place of cream or gelatin desserts or to be poured over sliced oranges or stewed fruit.

Here are some cakes and cookies making use of honey for sweetening that have been tested and found good. Some soda is added in 1 or 2 cases because of the slight acidity of honey.

Soft Honey Cake.
1/2 cupful butter
1/2 cupful sugar
1 egg
1/2 cupful sour milk
1/2 cupful honey
1/2 cupful salt
1/2 cupful baking powder

Beat the butter and honey together, add the egg, well beaten, then the sour milk, and the flour sifted with the soda and spices. Bake in shallow pan.

Honey Drop Cakes.
1/2 cupful butter
1/2 cupful sugar
1 egg
1/2 cupful sour milk
1/2 cupful honey
1/2 cupful salt
1/2 cupful baking powder

Beat the butter and honey together, add the egg, well beaten, then the sour milk, and the flour sifted with the soda and spices. Bake in shallow pan.

Honey Sponge Cake.
1/2 cupful sugar
1/2 cupful honey
1 egg
1/2 cupful salt
1/2 cupful baking powder

Mix the sugar and honey and beat until light.

Never move a cake in the oven until the center is set.

Plain gelatin flavored with pineapple cut into small pieces makes a pleasant dessert.

The water in which corned beef has been cooked can be saved for boiling cabbage or beans.

Cold boiled codfish served with mayonnaise seasoned with garlic is an excellent French dish.

Condensed milk is as good sometimes in cooking as fresh milk.

So much practical frying can be done in drippings that hard beef need not be used very frequently.

To remove an obstinate cover from a jar of canned fruit, turn the can upside down in a pan of hot water. The cover can then be easily turned.

This is much better than to bend the edges of the cover with a knife, which prevents it from fitting when used again.

Yeast bread may be made with rye flour and no wheat flour at all. Mix with milk if possible.

It is better to wash string beans before they are broken up for cooking. If washed afterward it spoils the flavor.

RELICS TELL OF BIG GOLD BOOM

Buildings in Tombstone, Ariz.; Recall Days of Camp's Glory.

WILD TIMES THERE

Blind-Cage Opera House, Can-Can Restaurant and Red-Light Saloon, About All That Remains of Gold Camp.

Tucson, Ariz.—The Blind-Cage opera house, the Can-Can restaurant, the Red Light saloon and the Tucson stage office remain as relics of the one-time glory of Tombstone, Ariz., as a mining camp. These old buildings were once the scenes of the pioneer Arizona mining camp, but are now occupied by bats and are slowly falling into decay.

The old opera house was the most famous theater in the southwest during the early frontier days. It is a rambling two-story structure with the glass broken by the elements. A long bar occupies one end of the building while the piano player's platform faces it at the opposite end. It was on this platform that the famous sign hung, which read: "Do not shoot the piano player. He is doing the best he can."

The most famous variety performers from San Francisco appeared on the stage. Many photographs of the famous blind-cage opera house are taken place in the Blind-Cage and it has been the scene of a number of western stories of frontier life.

Monument Erected for Settler.
At the Can-Can restaurant, sleek once sold for $5 each and were valued in line to be served when the Tombstone gold boom was at its height. The Red Light saloon was a gambling house and the discarded roulette and faro layouts may be seen stacked in the rear of the building with its broken bar and mahogany fixtures. The stage office is an adobe building with a several banking it, and it was here that the stage from Tucson pulled in each day. Another relic of old Tombstone is the monument erected to Ed Schefflin, the founder of the town.

It Was on This Platform That the Famous Sign Hung.

town and the man who gave it its name. The monument is built of boulders from Schefflin's first mine.

A cowboy in the Panhandle district of Texas told Schefflin that he would not find gold but a fortune in the quest of a relic in the Panhandle mountains. Schefflin found gold and named the town Tombstone, remembering his friend's prediction.

HAMMER MEETS COLD IRON

Big Spree Follows and Two Immortals Find Themselves Before Bar of Justice.

Middletown, O.—When a hammer meets cold iron everyone can guess what is going to happen.

A couple of fellows went for an auto ride here. During the progress of this ride the men accumulated an assortment of wet goods.

After a perilous career they were arrested on the Dixie highway and were taken before a justice of the peace, charged with driving an auto while intoxicated.

JAM FOR THE DOUGHBOYS

Seventeen Carloads of It Ordered by Government for the Soldiers Overseas.

Bellingham, Wash.—Seventeen carloads of special jam have been ordered from a Bellingham manufacturer by the government for feeding the doughboys overseas. This is the largest order of the kind ever placed in the West. As this city is in the heart of a famous fruit and berry district, government purchasing agents are assured of having the order quickly filled.

Heart Cut; Lives Four Days.

Oakland, Cal.—Although stabbed in the heart with a knife, Antonio Peretti of this city lived four days. He ate heartily and his pulse was only slightly above normal.

While clanking on a wharf watching fellow workers demonstrate Italian fighting recently, Peretti was accidentally wounded by a rival.

Surgeons here declare that this is the first time in their knowledge that any person has survived so long after suffering such a wound.

Baby Drowned While Parents Slept.

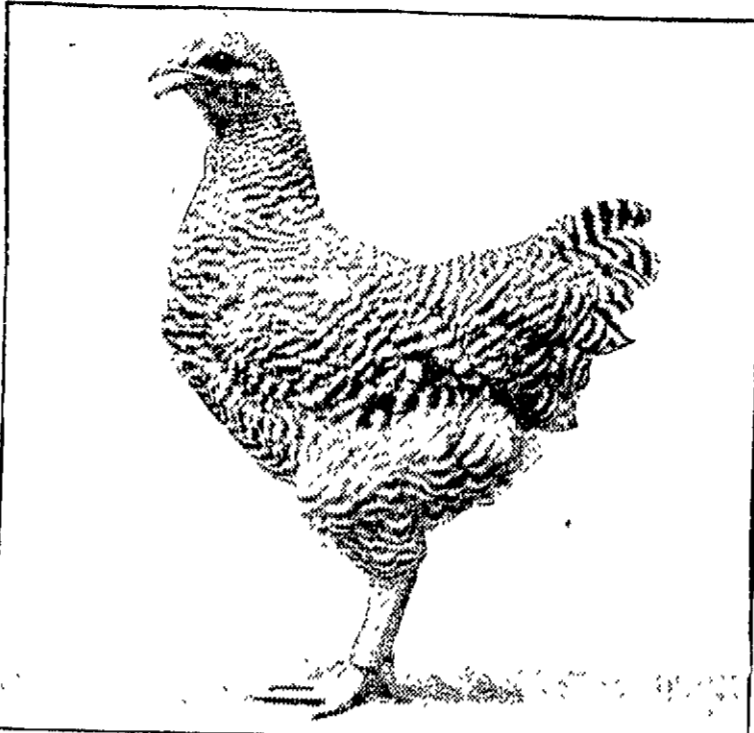

Chicago.—Catherine Tambury, thirteen-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tambury, was drowned in a washbowl at her home. The baby wandered around the house in the early hours of the morning while her parents slept and fell into the tub, which had been left standing full of water.

WANT WINTER EGGS?—PLAN NOW

The Type of Pullet to Select Now for Winter Egg Production—Strong, Active and Not Undersized.

KEEP ALL EARLY HATCHED LAYERS

Well-Developed Pullets Should Be Selected for Producing Eggs During Winter.

HANDLE ALL FOWLS GENTLY

Much Depends on Method of Changing From Summer Quarters—Special Attention Should Be Given to Making Hens Comfortable.

Pullets that were hatched early last spring and developed properly during the summer should begin laying in October. These are the pullets that should be selected now to make up the flock that is to produce eggs next winter. Whether they continue to lay next season when eggs are high in price depends upon the way they are fed and the method of changing them from summer conditions to their winter quarters. At this season these are the questions that should receive the attention of every poultry raiser.

It is desirable that pullets be in the houses they are to occupy during the winter three or four weeks before they are expected to begin laying. However, if pullets are on good range they should not be deprived of this, and may be removed to their winter quarters when good range becomes scarce. The change should then be made gently and carefully, and special attention given to making the hens comfortable in their new home. If this is done the transfer will have only a slight effect on their egg production.

Give Pullets Good Start.

Gentle handling and good treatment will go a long way toward offsetting the unfavorable effects of moving pullets, whether the change to permanent winter quarters is made before or after winter laying begins. Rapid and rough handling should be avoided. A little extra time and care in moving pullets carefully makes a difference of weeks, and sometimes months, in egg production.

The new house should be clean, dry, covered with litter, all nests and feeding and water equipment ready for use. A feed of grain should be scattered in the litter and a drinking vessel filled with water before the transfer is made.

When hens are to be changed from one house to another it is best to move them after dark. If only a few birds are to be moved and the distance is short, they may be carried two at a time, not by the feet, with their heads hanging down, but resting in a sitting position on the attendant's hand and wrist. When a large number of birds are to be transferred a convenient box or coop may be used. The birds should not be overcrowded and should be placed in and removed from the box gently.

Laying hens should get a great part of their food by foraging. When housed in winter quarters the best substitute for this is to make them scratch about the floor. In clean litter scattered about the floor, but resting in a sitting position on the attendant's hand and wrist. SKIRTS ARE TO SWEEP INSTEP

New York.—It is difficult to talk of economy and conservatism in respect to a brand-new fashion that is hurried at us out of the blue. Yet the combination is not only possible but often-times satisfying.

What is called the new skirt was advanced last December in America by American designers, and it had been exploited before for house gowns six months before, so it is not new. It is a fashion correspondent. It might be called a purely American design, although the house that originated it for the evening is under the strongest French influence. However, it was an independent action and nothing to do with inspiration from Paris.

The second American house that started the long skirt for the street skirt was not taken up, although it was constantly worn by the woman who designed it. We are rather slow to catch on to a new fashion, but when we do like it we catch it. Therefore it is likely that the long skirt will become an accepted thing, in mass, before Thanksgiving. This prophecy may be wrong. It is no time to forecast anything in any quarter of life. But the propaganda for the long skirt is sinking deeply into the hearts of women and spreading itself far over the continent.

And you, these skirts are not according to the lines that we have worn. Sometimes they are straight, but often they are slightly draped upward at the back, and there is a growing tendency to make a skirt, exceedingly narrow and sweeping the instep, and then a draped tulle, which is a quick reminder of the pullback skirt of other days.

So, you see, the designers are kind to us after all. They provide a new skirt and a new silhouette, but they do not compel you to buy a new gown. She who has money and little leisure will purchase the new garment; she will find it possible to arrange the new idea through the combination of an old frock draped into a tulle and a new skirt narrowly cut at the hem.

Conservative women are delighted. They abhor the short skirt, which, through our usual extravagance in overdoing things, has resolved itself into Scottish kilts.

Facing the New Season.
August is a severe or stormy month, as you look at it. You may determine to wear "whatever" clothes, faded and shabby, until the first storm demands the uses of women have risen to it, as women can be depended upon to do in any national emergency.

Capes Attract the Popular Fancy.
There is small hope for a top coat these days. Its career was abruptly ended when capes became the fashion. Foresighted women indulged in the loose, picturesque cape two years ago and clung to the theory that it was the comfortable and suitable type of covering for a frock or a suit. The shops finally took up the theory and offered loose wraps at all prices, from $10 to $120.

There is no diminution in the fashion. The economical woman still finds a faded or dusty gown and gives one a feeling of self-respect in public places. The new capes are suitable for coat suits as well as frocks, and their fabrics run the gamut. Satin, georgette, crepe, all the heavy Chinese silks, striped and plain for evening, cloth, velvet and chiffon are chosen.

Now the top coat has become a part of a costume, and it even permits a cape to be worn over it. It is rather fascinating as a redemptive. It resolves itself into this kind of garment, but when it is of crepe de chine or extra soft satin it is slipped over a severely plain chemise frock of another color and forms a polonaise.

These new top coats follow the path blazed by the jackets that belong to suits, in that they do not fasten in front. In fact, they do not pretend to even meet in front. They are broad enough to reach across the chest and water, but the fashionable trick is to push the fronts back until they are almost under the arms, in order that a broad expanse of the frock may be shown.

Do not run over this item as an insignificant one. It is a fashion that was begun in Paris five months ago, when the first warm weather broke into being, and it has ruled since then. In America we are just beginning to take it up with any enthusiasm, and by the time we have established it as a fashion our cold weather will make us bring the fronts of our coats together and fasten them snugly from collarbone to hips.

If one uses a jacket, long or short, as a redemptive the need for fastening will not present itself, for the cold weather will bring in the cape of cloth or fur, with its huge collar, and one may wear any kind of costume beneath it. Herein lies its value to the economist.

The Pompadour black and white combination is brilliantly done in capes that are worn on the street as well as to evening affairs. The body of the cape is of black satin, and the decorations are of white satin. The belt is not enough to permit these thin fabric capes to be worn during the cold weather. They cover a multitude of bad details in a gown that could not do service if exposed to the searching sunlight.

Clothes have undergone the same transformation as everything else in America. Economy and conservatism are the keynote of dressing, but only the very indifferent or the overboarded and morbid woman is careless of her appearance.

The word "morbid" has become the foundation stone of this war, and

Blouses in Dark Colors.
Blouses as seen in the shops offer an interesting variety from the round collarless neck, slip-over blouse and georgette, to the dignified semi-tailored model with high collar and ribbon tie. Georgette is the favorite silk fabric for better blouses, while crepe de chine is of course a staple. Perhaps the most important thing to learn is that there is likely to be a strong vogue of costume colors, with navy blue in the lead, followed by brown, taupe, burgundy and myrtle green. These, it is expected, will take precedence over the light shades, which will be limited in number, the principal tints being white, flesh, mauve, apricot, orchid and silver.

Interlined Silk Gowns.
Some very good looking new full coats have not a thread of wool in their outer fabric. They are made of heavy satin and are lined with bright colored, soft satin of equally substantial quality. Between the outer and inner satin surfaces is a warm interlining, sometimes of flannel, sometimes of cotton batting. The lines of these coats are loose and graceful and sometimes a fur collar adds to the comfort and smartness.

A Smart Belt.
If you wish the last thing in the way of dress accessories you must have a knitted belt, and a wool rather than silk. The stitch is a sort of flattened concentric and not very difficult. You can make them if you know how to knit, and if you are not good at it better not try it. The belt is fastened to the side of the front with large pearl buttons as a general thing. It goes without saying that only slender women should wear them.

Curtains of Gingham.
Checked gingham curtains are used in a most effective way. The curtains are outlined in some cases by ruffles of plain tone chambray, in the dominant color of the check.

Summer Evening Wraps.

women, who are keenly emotional hold on to it as to a life rope. They must not be morbid and they must not be shabby. Optimism must shine from their faces and their clothes. This is a part of their burden, and

BUSY BEES CAN HELP YOU SAVE SUGAR

Three Storehouses That Will Help to Stretch the Sugar Supply.

USE MORE HONEY IN YOUR COOKING

One of Best Substitutes for Sugar to Be Found on Any Farm Is in Apiary.

SEVERAL RECIPES ARE GIVEN

Little Bee Makes It Possible for One to Indulge in Sweets Without Troubling Conscience—Useful in Preserves.

If you keep bees, count yourself fortunate in these days of sugar stringency. The bees can provide you with one of the best of the sugar substitutes, and will make it possible for you to indulge your taste for sweets without hurting your conscience. With honey to supplement the limited sugar supply, the two pounds per person per month becomes a liberal allowance.

Not only is the honey useful to eat as such, either strained, in the comb, or candied, but it lends itself to various combinations that make it practically useful in place of sugar. Baked fruit, such as whole apples with the cores removed; baked white peaches, or cooked dried fruit are very good sweetened with honey in place of sugar. Preserves or marmalades may also be made with honey. Apple or pear preserves made by the following recipe are very good:

Honey Preserves.
2 quarts apples or 1½ teaspoonful cinnamon
pears cut into small pieces small pieces 1 cupful vinegar
2 cupfuls honey

Heat the honey, vinegar, and cinnamon together and cook the pieces of fruit a few at a time in the syrup until they become transparent. Pour over all the syrup which remains after the fruit is cooked.

Honey may also be used in cake making or for sweetening ice cream, custards or puddings, and in cake and cookie making. In substituting honey for sugar you will get good results if you will follow your old recipe, substituting a cupful of honey for a cupful of sugar and using one-fourth less of whatever liquid the recipe requires.

Soft Honey Custard.
2 cupfuls milk 1½ cupful honey
2 eggs yolks 1½ teaspoonful salt
1 egg white 1½ cupful sugar
Mix the honey, eggs and salt. Scald the milk and pour it over the eggs. Cook in a double boiler until the mixture thickens.

This custard is suitable for use in place of cream or gelatin desserts or to be poured over sliced oranges or steamed fruit.

Here are some cakes and cookies making use of honey for sweetening that have been tested and found good. Some soda is added in most cases because of the slight acidity of honey.

Soft Honey Cake.
½ cupful butter 1½ teaspoonful soda
1 cupful honey 1½ teaspoonful ginger
1 egg 1 cupful sugar
1 cupful sour milk 1 cupful flour
1½ teaspoonful cin- 1½ teaspoonful salt
1½ teaspoonful vanilla

Beat the butter and honey together, add the egg, well beaten, then the sour milk, and the flour sifted with the soda and spices. Bake in shallow pan.

Honey Drop Cakes.
½ cupful butter 2 tablespoonfuls water
1 cupful honey 1 cupful raisins, cut in small pieces
1½ teaspoonful cin- 1½ teaspoonful salt
1½ teaspoonful vanilla 1½ teaspoonful baking powder

Beat the honey and butter until the butter melts. While the mixture is warm add the spices. When cold add part of the flour, the egg well beaten, 1½ soda dissolved in water, and the raisins. Add enough other flour to make a dough that will hold its shape. Drop by spoonfuls on a buttered tin and bake in a moderate oven.

Honey Sponge Cake.
½ cupful sugar 1 cupful sifted flour
½ cupful honey 1½ teaspoonful salt
4 eggs

Mix the sugar and honey and beat until the sirup will spin a thread when dropped from spoon. Pour the sirup over the yolks of the eggs, which have been beaten until light. Beat the mixture until cold; add the flour and cut and fold the beaten whites of the eggs into the mixture. Bake for 40 or 50 minutes in a pan lined with buttered paper in a slow oven.

Honey Cookies.
2-3 cupful honey 1 teaspoonful all-spice
2½ cupful sugar 2 ounces dairy butter
1½ cupful flour 1½ cupful vanilla
1½ teaspoonful cin- orange peel
1½ teaspoonful vanilla ¼ pound walnut meats, finely chopped

Sift together the flour, spices, and soda, and add other ingredients. Knead thoroughly roll out this, and cut with a biscuit cutter. These cookies are very hard.

Make the most of your honey supply and save the sugar.

Green Tomatoes.
When the first hard frost leaves you with a large supply of green tomatoes on hand you will make some of them into pickles—but do you know how good they are to use as vegetables?

They are very good sliced and fried. Slice in one-half inch slices, sprinkle with salt and fry until tender in a little fat. If you wish them browned, dip the slices in flour or bread crumbs or first dip in eggs and then in crumbs before frying.

If you are fond of fried apple and onions, you will also like the following. Slice onion and green tomatoes and fry together. Serve at dinner or as a relish for supper.

They are very good, too, stewed much as you stew the ripe ones.

DEMAND FOR HONEY

The present honey crop of the United States barely exceeds 250,000,000 pounds. That the country produces even this much is a tribute to most people it is stated; for while honey was the chief form of sugar used in ancient times, the case of getting cane or beet sugar has placed honey in the background. Now that our sugar supply is reduced by reason of supplying the allies with part of the sugar they need, the demand for honey has increased not only domestically but also for export.

Stewed Green Tomatoes.
4 large green toms 2 tablespoonfuls butter
1½ teaspoonful pop- 2 tablespoonfuls sugar
1½ teaspoonful salt 1½ teaspoonful onion
1½ teaspoonful salt 1½ teaspoonful onion

Scald tomatoes and remove skins, cut into quarters, boil until tender; season and thicken with crumbs.

They give a distinctive flavor to cream soups, and are very tasty.

Cream of Green Tomato Soup.
6 green tomatoes 1 cupful milk
1½ teaspoonful soda 1½ teaspoonful salt
1½ teaspoonful butter 1½ teaspoonful pepper

Boil the tomatoes until tender and put through a strainer. Make cream sauce of butter and flour, to which is added milk, salt and pepper. Add pulp to which soda has been added. Allow to cook few minutes in double boiler.

Cottage Cheese With Fruits.
At this season of the year when the supply of fruits is at its highest and large quantities have been made into preserves, the combined use of preserved fruits and cottage cheese as a food-saving system should not be overlooked. The United States department of agriculture points out that cottage cheese with fruit preserves, such as strawberries, figs or cherries poured over it, and served with bread or crackers, makes a most appetizing and sustaining dish. If preferred, cottage cheese balls may be served separately or eaten with the preserves.

A more attractive dish may be made by dropping a bit of jelly into a nest of the cottage cheese.

Never move a cake in the oven until the center is set.
Plain gelatin flavored with prunes cut into small pieces makes a pleasant dessert.

The water in which corned beef has been cooked may be saved for boiling cabbage or beans.

Cold boiled codfish served with mayonnaise seasoned with garlic is an excellent French dish.

Condensed milk is as good sometimes in cooking as fresh milk.

So much practical frying can be done in drippings that lard need not be used very frequently.

To remove an obstinate cover from a jar of canned fruit, turn the can upside down in a pan of hot water. The cover can then be easily turned.

This is much better than to bend the edges of the cover with a knife, which prevents it from fitting when used again.

It is better to wash string beans before they are broken up for cooking. If washed afterward it spoils the flavor.

RELIGS TELL OF BIG GOLD BOOM

Buildings in Tombstone, Ariz.; Recall Days of Camp's Glory.

WILD TIMES THERE

Bird-Cage Opera House, Can-Can Restaurant and Red-Light Saloon, About All That Remains of Gold Camp.

Tucson, Ariz.—The Bird-Cage opera house, the Can-Can restaurant, the Red Light saloon, and the Tucson stage office remain as relics of the one-time glory of Tombstone, Ariz., as a mining camp. These old buildings were once the scenes of the pioneer Arizona mining camp, but are now occupied by butts and are slowly falling into decay.

The old opera house was the most famous theater in the southwest during the early frontier days. It is a rambling two-story structure with the glass broken by the elements. A long bar occupies one end of the building while the piano player's platform faces it at the opposite end. It was on this platform that the famous silent films, which read: "Do not shoot the piano player. He is doing the best he can." The most famous variety performers from San Francisco appeared on the stage and lithographs announcing their coming still hang on the walls. Many shooting affairs took place in the Bird Cage and it has been the scene of a number of western stories of frontier life.

Monument Erected for Settler.
At the Can-Can restaurant stands once sold for $5 each and men visited in line to be served when the Tombstone gold boom was at its height. The Red Light saloon was a gambling house and the discarded roulette and faro layouts may be seen stacked in the rear of the building with its broken bar and mahogany fixtures. The stage office is an adobe building with a corral flanking it, and it was here that the stage from Tucson pulled in each day. JAM FOR THE DOUGHBOYS
Seventeen Carloads of It Ordered by Government for the Soldiers Overseas.

Bellingham, Wash.—Seventeen carloads of special jam have been ordered from a Bellingham manufacturer by the government for feeding the doughboys overseas. WANT WINTER EGGS?—PLAN NOW

The Type of Pullet to Select Now for Winter Egg Production—Strong, Active and Not Undersized.

KEEP ALL EARLY HATCHED LAYERS

Well-Developed Pullets Should Be Selected for Producing Eggs During Winter.

HANDLE ALL FOWLS GENTLY

Much Depends on Method of Changing From Summer Quarters—Special Attention Should Be Given to Making Hens Comfortable.

Pullets that were hatched early last spring and developed properly during the summer should begin laying in October. These are the pullets that should be selected now to make up the flock that is to produce eggs next winter. Whether they continue to lay next season when eggs are high in price depends upon the way they are fed and the method of changing them from summer conditions to their winter quarters. At this season these are the questions that should receive the attention of every poultry raiser. It is desirable that pullets be in the houses they are to occupy during the winter three or four weeks before they are expected to begin laying. However, if pullets are on good range they may be removed to their winter quarters when good range becomes scarce. The change should then be made gently and carefully, and special attention given to making the hens comfortable and contented in their new home. If this is done the transfer will have only a slight effect on their egg production.

Give Pullets Good Start.
Gentle handling and good treatment will go a long way toward offsetting the unfavorable effects of moving pullets, whether the change to permanent winter quarters is made before or after winter laying begins. Rapid and rough handling should be avoided. A little extra time and care in moving pullets carefully makes a difference of weeks, and sometimes months, in egg production. The new home should be clean, the floor covered with litter, all nests and feeding and water equipment ready for use. A feed of grain should be scattered in the litter and a drink of water filled with water before the transfer is made.

When hens are to be changed from one house to another it is best to move them after dark. If only a few birds are to be removed and the distance is short, they may be carried two at a time, not by the feet, with their hands hanging down, but resting in a sitting position on the attendant's hand and wrist. When a large number of birds are to be transferred a convenient box or coop may be used. The birds should not be overcrowded and should be placed in and removed from the box gently.

Laying hens should get a great part of their feed by foraging. When housed in winter quarters the best substitute for this is to make them scratch for the grain in clean litter scattered about the floor. The hens will thus get the necessary exercise which is essential for good egg production. If hens are placed in winter quarters from free range they should be liberally supplied with vegetable feed, which at this time can be easily obtained from the garden. In fact, laying hens should have vegetable or green feeds as much as possible throughout the winter. This makes it possible to feed grain heavily to promote good egg production and yet keep the birds in the best of physical condition.

The problem of feeding is one of great importance, and should be carefully considered, for on it depends to a large extent not only the general health of the birds, but also the economy which promotes success. It is a subject, however, which should be studied with a large amount of common sense, for there are no hard and fast rules which can be laid down as applying to every case. The price of feeds and the general environment should be considered in determining the right ration.

Profit in Winter Eggs.
For the largest profit a good proportion of the eggs should be secured during the winter. If two extra eggs per week can be obtained from each hen a good profit will be made, while if the product is increased by only one egg per week in winter, this one egg will pay for all the feed the hen eats. To obtain this greater production not only should the fowls be young and of a good laying breed, but the feeder should have a full knowledge of the proper feed and its preparation.

The nutriment in the feed of laying hens serves a twofold purpose—to repair waste and furnish heat to the body and to supply the egg-making materials. As only the surplus over what is needed for the body is available for egg production, the proper feeds should be fed in sufficient quantities to induce this production.

In supplying feed to fowls there are three kinds of constituents which should be present in certain fairly well fixed proportions if the desired results are to be obtained most economically. These constituents are mineral, nitrogenous and carbonaceous, all of which are contained in corn, wheat, oats and barley, but not in the right proportions to give the greatest yield. In addition some animal feed and green feed should be supplied.

TWO WAR-TIME RATIOMS
Green feed, such as cabbage, sprouted oats or any available green vegetables, should be fed with both of these rations. Sprouted oats are also recommended for green feed, but are not as desirable as cabbage or other green vegetables.

Scratch Feed.
1 part ground oats 2 parts cornmeal
1 part meat scrap 1 part bran or fish meal 1 part middlings
1 part cracked corn 1 part heavy corn
1 part cracked corn

The second ration contains less beef scrap.

Mash.
5 parts mixed feed (bran and middlings)
4 parts corn meal
1 part bran or fish meal
1 part cracked corn

Scratch Feed.
1 part cracked corn

Don't Waste Feed.
Not all of the early-hatched pullets will make good winter layers. An early-hatched pullet that is undersize at this season will never make a good hen. A late-hatched pullet that is well grown and developed at the time of selecting the birds which are to make up the winter laying flock gives better promise than the poorly developed, early-hatched pullet. If proper care is given it should begin laying in midwinter. Don't waste feed on any except the promising pullets. They should have good care and good feed at all stages. It is impossible to grow pullets carelessly and on short rations until they reach the age when they should be full-grown and mature, and then bring them forward quickly by a short course of good management. The pullet that is worth keeping as a layer is worth good care and full rations all the time. One that is not considered worth keeping should be eaten or marketed. Undesired birds will not pay for the feed they eat during winter.

POULTRY NOTES
Both time and money are lost trying to improve mongrels.

Increase stock as fast as means and demand will permit.

Ducks are more prolific than geese, and artificial methods are resorted to in hatching and rearing the young.

Dirty milk is unfit food for young chicks, and much trouble is necessary to keep the chicks in fit condition.

Sour milk is an important factor in growing chicks rapidly, but it must be fed in clean dishes.

Old hens in brood coops should be furnished with green food to keep them in healthy condition.

A little theory and much common sense are necessary to success in poultry raising. Patience and plodding are included in common sense.

SKIRTS ARE TO SWEEP INSTEP

New York.—It is difficult to talk of economy and conservation in respect to a brand-new fashion that is hurled at us out of the blue. Yet the combination is not only possible but oftentimes satisfying.

What is called the new skirt was advanced last December in America by American designers, and it had been exploited here for house gowns six months before, so it is not new, recites a fashion correspondent. It might be called a purely American design, although the lines that exploited it for the evening is under the strongest French influence. However, it was an independent action and had nothing to do with inspiration from Paris.

The second American house that started the long skirt for the street acted in an independent manner. This skirt was not taken up, although it was constantly worn by the women who designed it. We are rather slow to catch on to a new fashion, but when we do like it we overdo it. Therefore it is likely that the long skirt will become an accepted thing, in mass, before Thanksgiving. This prophecy may be wrong. It is no time to forecast anything in any quarter of life. But the propaganda for the long skirt is sinking deeply into the hearts of women and spreading itself far over the continent.

Mind you, these skirts are not according to the lines that we have worn. Sometimes they are straight, but often they are slightly draped upward at the back, and there is a growing tendency to make a skirt, exceedingly narrow and sweeping the instep, and then a draped tunic, which is a quick reminder of the pullback skirt of other days.

So, you see, the designers are kind to us after all. They provide a new skirt and a new silhouette, but they do not compel you to buy a new gown. She who has money and little leisure will purchase the new garment; she will find it possible to arrange the new idea through the combination of an old frock draped into a tunic and a new skirt narrowly cut at the hem.

Conservative women are delighted. They abhor the short skirt, which, through our usual extravagance in overdoing things, has resolved itself into Scottish kilts.

Facing the New Season.
August is a serene or stormy month, as you look at it. You may determine to wear "whatever" clothes, faded and shabby, until the first frost demands these. It is small hope for a top coat these days. Its career was abruptly ended when capes became the fashion. Forerunners of the cape were years ago and clung to the theory that it was the comfortable and suitable type of covering for a frock or a suit. The shops finally took up the theory and offered loose wraps at all prices, from $15 to $120.

There is no diminution in the fashion. The "economy" woman finds that a fresh new cape can lend a faded or dusty gown and give one a feeling of self-respect in public places. The new capes are suitable for coat suits as well as frocks, and their fabrics run the gamut. Satin, georgette crepe, all the heavy Chinese silks, striped and plain taffeta, broad cloth, velvet and chiffon are chosen.

Now the top coat has become a part of a costume, and it even permits a cape to be worn over it. It is rather fascinating as a redecoration. It resolves itself into this kind of garment, but when it is of crepe de chine or extra soft satin it is slipped over a severely plain chemise frock of another color and forms a polonaise.

These new topcoats follow the path blazed by the jackets that belong to suits, in that they do not fasten in front. In fact, they do not pretend to even meet in front. They are broad enough to reach across the chest and waist, but the fashionable trick is to push the fronts back until they are almost under the arms, in order that a broad expanse of the frock may show.

Do not run over this item as an insignificant one. It is a fashion that has begun in Paris five months ago, when the first warm weather broke into being, and it has ruled since then. In America we are just beginning to take it up with any enthusiasm, and by the time we have established it as a fashion our cold weather will make us bring the fronts of our coats together and fasten them snugly from collarbone to hips.

If one uses a jacket, long or short, as a redecoration the need for shorter will not present itself, for the cold weather will bring in the cape of cloth or fur, with its huge collar, and one may wear any kind of costume beneath it. Herein lies its value to the economist.

The Pompadour black and white combination is brilliantly done in coats that are worn on the street as well as to evening affairs. The body of the cape is of black satin, and the decorations are of white satin. The weather is hot enough to permit these thin fabric capes to be worn during all the waking hours. They cover a vastitude of bad details in a gown that could not do service if exposed to the searching sunlight.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The Use of Fringe.
Fringe is much in evidence for trimmings and is very effective in some instances. But one must admit that the flowing capes, bordered by long, sweeping fringe, which have been much on view this season, are far from artistic.

Blouses in Dark Colors.
Blouses as seen in the shops offer an interesting variety from the round collar neck, slip collar, wing collar, or georgette, to the dignified semi-tailored model with high collar and ribbon tie. Georgette is the favorite silk fabric for better blouses, while crepe de chine is of course a staple. Perhaps the most important thing there is to say about blouses for autumn is that there is likely to be a strong vogue of costume colors, with navy blue in the lead, followed by brown, taupe, burgundy and myrtle green. These, it is expected, will take precedence over the light shades, which will be limited in number, the principal tints being white, flesh, maize, apricot, orchid and silver.

Interlined Silk Coats.
Some very good looking new fall coats have not a thread of wool in their outer fabric. They are made of heavy satin and there is likely to be a colored, soft satin of equally substantial quality. Between the outer and inner surfaces is a warm interlining, sometimes of flannel, sometimes of cotton batting. The lines of these coats are loose and graceful and sometimes a fur collar adds to the comfort and smartness.

A Smart Belt.
If you wish the last thing in the way of dress accessories you must have a knitted belt, and of wool rather than silk. The stitch is a sort of flattened concentric and not very difficult. You can make them if you know how to knit, and if you are not good at it better not try it. The belt is fastened to the side of the front with large pearl buttons as a general thing. It goes without saying that only slender women should wear them.

Curtains of Gingham.
Checked gingham curtains are used in a most effective way. The curtains are outlined in some cases by ruffles of plain tone chambray, in the dominant color of the check.

Summer Evening Wraps.
Pale pink and white checked taffeta make a pretty evening wrap for summer.

Dorothy's Bad Manners.

My little niece, Margaret, had been promised a party. The time came for distributing the invitations and I went with Margaret. When we came to Dorothy's house I said: "I'll stay out here while you take Dorothy's invitation in to her."

When she came out I said: "Did you give Dorothy her invitation?" "Yes," said Margaret, "and I told her, 'you're welcome,' and she didn't even say 'thank you.'—Chicago Tribune.

Right Back at Him.

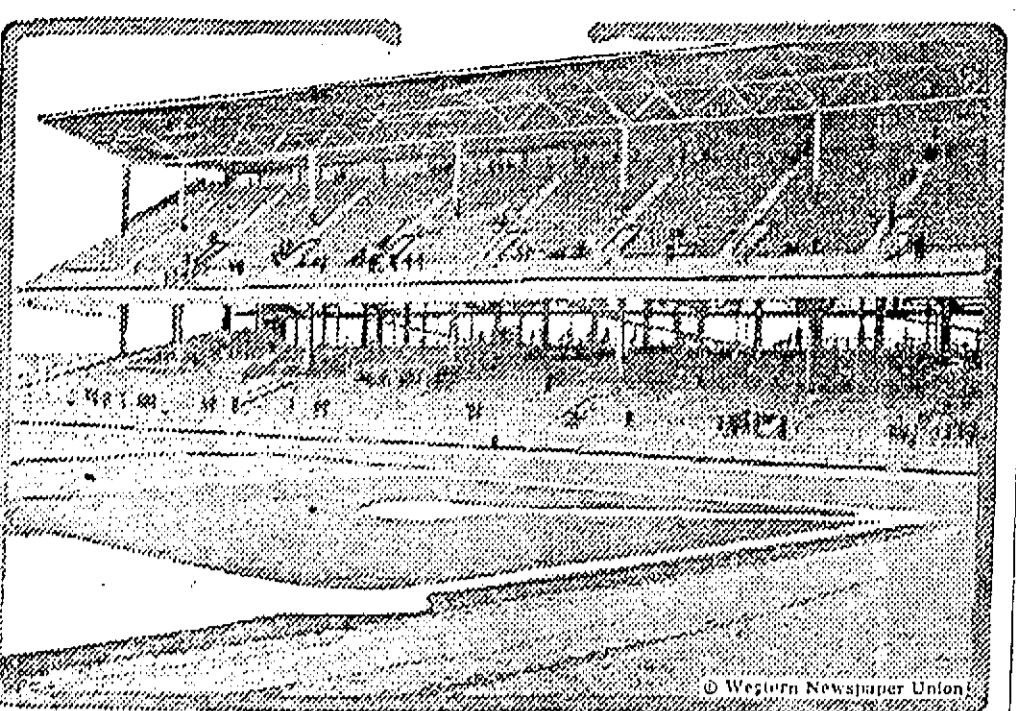

She was noted for her quickness at repartee, also a habit of worrying over trifles or some unintentional slight. The young husband arrived home and found her in tears. An older, experienced husband would have taken a walk, until she recovered, but this one tried to argue, and finally, losing patience, he said:

"Well, my dear, I can't provide you with brains."

Immediately came the reply which cleared the atmosphere: "I don't expect you to with your limited supply."

Neighborly sympathy often turns out to be about nineteenth century.

FAREWELL TO EBBETTS FIELD AS UNCLE SAM TAKES IT FOR COLD STORAGE PLANT

No more will the players pour at the umpire or go wild over a home run at Ebbetts field, the big baseball diamond of the Brooklyn National, as the government has commandeered it as a cold storage plant. According to Charles P. Ebbetts, owner of the club, Uncle Sam will try to make good use of it for the army and navy. Other famous ball fields, including the Polo grounds, home of the New York Giants, may also be taken over for similar purposes. It is heart-breaking to the fans, of course, but they realize that it is not a good-by, but an au revoir, to baseball.

COMPARATIVELY YOUNG MEN CALLED VETERANS

Arthur Fletcher of the Glens, Zach Wilent of Brooklyn and Tom Clark of the Reds, are the oldest players in point of service on their clubs in the National league. The three men all joined their respective teams in 1900. Now that Hans Wagner has retired from the diamond, Max Carey is the veteran player on the Pirates. He joined the club in 1910. Dick Rudolph did not become a Braves until 1913, but he has been with the club longer than any other of the present members. Two other players who are now the veterans of their teams joined their clubs the same year. They are Jim Vaughn of the Cubs and Bill Dink of the Cardinals.

LONG DRIVE WON HIM FIFTY

But Ray Schmandt's Check Covered Many Miles Before Reaching Him at Camp Pike.

Ray Schmandt, the former Brooklyn second baseman, is at last to receive his check for $50 for hitting the "bull" sign in Philadelphia last April. Schmandt posted the sign with a fine drive and earned the bonus, and his check was soon ready, but it has had a hard time catching up with him. The check was forwarded to Brooklyn and was to have been presented to Schmandt with some money and a certificate at Ebbetts field, but before it arrived he had been called by his draft board and had gone to St. Louis to see his family. The check was forwarded to St. Louis, but he had left for Camp Pike, Ark., in the meantime. His family forwarded it to Camp Pike, where he is a member of the Tenth training battalion.

TRUISM ON BASEBALL GAME

Pitched Balls That Are Near Enough to Be Called Strikes Are Good Enough to Hit At.

Major league butsmen who made a practice of heckling the umpires for doubtful balls and strikes never found any sympathy with Fred Clarke. The ex-Pirate leader once expressed a truism which should be drilled into every boy who gets into the national pastime. Wilbur Cooper brought out Clarke's little line following an argument in one of the games played by the Pirates at Jacksonville. Several of the Pittsburghers were complaining that the umpire "missed" some that were an inch or two from the corner of the plate.

"Well, boys," remarked Cooper, "I feel the same as Cap Clarke on pitched balls. If they're close enough to be called strikes, they're good enough to hit."

POSTWAR SPORT BOOM SEEN BY PILKINGTON

Jim Pilkington, president of the Association of Amateur Golfers, sees a brilliant prospect for all athletic sports when peace is declared, says the Great Lakes Bulletin, official national publication. Pilkington, whose native association with the government body in rowing goes back to 1876—within a decade of the end of the Civil war—believes that conditions following the great war will be much the same as those which were experienced here in the reconstruction period.

"The Civil war, or rather the ending of it, gave sport its impetus in this country," said Pilkington.

"Because Uncle Sam is practically making athletics compulsory in the land and naval forces, hundreds and thousands of young men who never before engaged in sport have become active and enthusiastic athletes. It is easy to see what the result will be when the war ends."

DICK RUDOLPH BEEN PITCHING 14 YEARS

Passing of Time Doesn't Seem to Faze Boston Star.

Started Twirling for Fordham College in 1905 and Rose Rapidly—Manager McGraw Once Sent Him Back to Minors.

Dick Rudolph, star heater of the Boston Braves, has been pitching for 14 years, but the passing of time doesn't seem to faze him.

He started pitching for Fordham college back in 1905, and two years later he was on his way to stardom as a member of the Toronto club of the old Eastern league, after having had a bit of additional seasoning with a semi-professional club at Rutland, Vt., and with New Haven in the Connecticut league.

His first full season with Toronto was a busy one, for he took part in 31 games, winning 13 and losing eight. After that he developed rapidly, and on three occasions won more than 20 games a season for the Maple Leafs.

In 1911 Rudolph was given a trial by the Glens, but John McGraw did not believe he was ready for the big show and sent him back to the Toronto club. That decision was one of the mistakes McGraw has made in judging players, and he has regretted it ever since, for in 1913 Rudolph was traded to the Boston club, and what he has done in the way of stardom in National league batties on their heads is too well known to repeat here.

Rudolph was a holdout this season until late in May, when he finally came to terms with the Braves and signed his contract. In his first start of the season he beat the Reds, letting Matty's team down with one hit, and he proved conclusively that he has lost none of his cunning in the box.

Early in the spring he tried to purchase his release from the Braves for $10,000, but could not put the deal over. Manager Stallings knows what he is worth.

Get New Kidneys!

The kidneys are the most overworked organs of the human body, and when they fail in their work of filtering out and throwing off the poisons developed in the system, things begin to happen.

One of the first warnings is pain or stiffness in the lower part of the back; high colored urine; loss of appetite; indigestion; irritation, or even stone in the bladder. These symptoms indicate a condition which may lead to that dreaded and fatal malady, Bright's disease, for which there is said to be no cure.

Do not delay a minute. At the first indication of trouble in the kidney, liver, bladder or urinary organs, start taking Gold Medal Hareem Oil Capsules, and save yourself before it is too late. Instant treatment is necessary in kidney and bladder troubles. A delay is often fatal.

You can almost certainly find immediate relief in Gold Medal Hareem Oil Capsules. For more than 200 years this famous preparation has been an unfailing remedy for all kidney, bladder and urinary troubles.

It is the pure, original Hareem Oil your great-grandmother used. About two capsules every day will keep you toned up and feeling fine. Get it at any drug store, and if it does not give you almost immediate relief, your money will be refunded. Be sure you get the GOLD MEDAL brand. None other genuine. In boxes, three sizes—Adv.

Those who delight in reading about patriots of today should enjoy this fable by Ambrose Bierce, written 20 years ago.

"No," said the patriotic Miller, "I will employ no one who deserts his position in the hour of danger. It is my duty to die for my country."

Something in the southerner sounded familiar, and, looking at the Miller more closely, the Warhorse recognized his master in disguise.

DO WORK AT HIGH PRESSURE

Duties of War Correspondents at the Front Are in the Highest Degree Exacting.

Here are the conditions under which a war correspondent has to work: A great attack is pending and in the black night the war correspondent journeys forth from S. H. Q. by car to some vantage point, from which he sees the line of the action, and, even were visibility perfect, under conditions of modern war he could only hope to witness a tiny corner of the battle—picks up what facts he can at brigade, divisional, corps or army headquarters, and from the "walking wounded," who begin to stream down from the front within an hour of "zero," studies his maps, and makes his notes. Morning papers go to press early these days. So in the early afternoon he is whirled homeward, maybe through shell fire, fifty, sixty or seventy miles, and then only, at the end of a long, exhausting day, his work proper begins. He must sit down and write promptly a clear and comprehensive account of the day's doings, graphic, if possible, as complete as any he yet containing nothing that infringes on censorship rules. It is a task demanding the utmost concentration from a mind and body already fatigued.

Practical View.

"I am so obsessed with my love for you," wrote the sweet young thing to her soldier, "that I cannot eat a bite."

"That is the kind of girl for me," said the rookie, "with the price of eats about a blue sky limit, I could just about support a wife who didn't eat."

Trimmer—in Corsets.

Steam power was very low on the duffer, so the captain went below and picked out one of the grimy seamstresses.

"What's wrong? It isn't the coal?"

"What was your rating when you joined the navy? A trimmer?"

"Yes, sir," came the reply. "They asked me my trade and when I said I was a trimmer they shoved me in the stockhold before I had time to explain. I'm not a coal trimmer; my specialty is—corsets."

to Pass the Crisis Safely—roof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Can Be Relied Upon.

Urbana, Ill.—"During Change of Life," in addition to its annoying symptoms, I had an attack of grippe which lasted all winter and left me in a weakened condition. I felt at times that I would never be well again. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it did for women passing through the change of life, so I would try it. I soon began to gain in strength and the annoying symptoms disappeared and your Vegetable Compound has made me a well, strong woman so I do all my own housework. I cannot recommend Lydia E. Honest Advertising.

THIS is a topic we all hear now-a-days because so many people are inclined to exaggerate. Yet has any physician told you that we claimed unreasonable remedial properties for Fletcher's Castoria? Just ask them. We won't answer it ourselves, we know what the answer will be.

That it has all the virtues to-day that was claimed for it in its early days is to be found in its increased use, the recommendation by prominent physicians, and our assurance that its standard will be maintained.

Imitations are to be found in some stores and only because of the Castoria that Mr. Fletcher created. But it is not the genuine Castoria that Mr. Fletcher Honestly advertised, Honestly placed before the public and from which he Honestly expects to receive his reward.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Extracts from Letters by Grateful Parents to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Mrs. John W. Derrick, of Lexington, S. C., says: "My children cry for Castoria, I could not do without it."

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gaines, of Ripley, Tenn., say: "We enclose our baby's picture hoping it will induce some poor tired mothers to give your Castoria a trial. We have used it since baby was two weeks old."

Mrs. J. G. Parman, of Nashville, Tenn., says: "The perfect health of my baby is due to your Castoria—the first and only medicine he has taken. He is never satisfied with one dose, he always cries for more."

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Johnson, of Stevens Point, Wis., say: "When our baby was two weeks old he cried so much we did everything for him, then got some Castoria and he is now strong and fat. We would not be without it, and are very thankful to you."

Homestead of Old Man.

"If women keep on talking up the essential work once performed by men," remarked a quiet observer, "what a grand looking self father and some of his sons are going to have after the war. The dressmakers and school teachers' husbands used to have a monopoly on that sort of thing, but now we will have the steam riveters, conductors, truck drivers and chauffeurs' husbands. It begins to look as if the old man is coming into his own at last."

But He Didn't Look the Part.

Gen. Sir William Robertson of England, who, despite his complete lack of official "dash," is a stickler for military etiquette, paused, wheeled around and walked up to the sentry. "Why didn't you salute me?" he asked.

"P-p-p-sure, sir; I didn't know who you were."

Robertson glanced down at his none too smart uniform, grined with all and dust from close contact with the lorry, and smiled grimly.

"Well," he said, "I may not look just now like a blankety general. But I am one."

What is a Branch House?

The Branch House is the place in the packing organization where what the packing plant does for you is put where you can use it.

Both are the natural result of growth and development in the living thing they belong to.

Swift & Company Branch Houses are located in distributing centers all over the country. They are fitted out with refrigerating equipment to keep meat cool, sweet and fresh.

Each one is in personal charge of a man who believes in what Swift & Company is doing for people and wants to help do it.

They are directed by men who have spent years learning how to get better meat cheaper to the places where it is needed.

Meat is shipped to the branch houses direct from the packing plants in Swift & Company's refrigerator cars, in such quantities that it can be disposed of while fresh and sweet.

Your meat dealer comes here to buy your meat for you—unless someone else can treat him better than we can.

So you need the branch house in order to live well; and the branch house and the packing plant need each other, in order to be useful to you.

SAYS EMPLOYERS MAY GET STATE "IN BAD"

Madison, Wis., Sept. 14.—Because of the failure of Wisconsin employers to file their applications for help with the United States Employment bureau located in all of the different cities of the state, and because of the fact that one hundred employers in the state have failed to file any reports showing that their men were needed to do war necessities work, this state may be called upon to furnish upwards of 6,000 laborers to other states on Oct. 1. This is the statement of Chairman George P. Hambrecht of the Wisconsin Industrial commission who has charge of the United States labor problem in Wisconsin. Hambrecht said that on Aug. 1, Wisconsin was called upon to furnish 5,500 men for war labor before Oct. 1. Today upwards of 6,000 applications have been filed. He said that many employers were hiring the men independently and not through the labor bureau and as a result the state was in a predicament. Unless the employers file as required by law, it is probable that this state may be required to send upwards of 6,000 men into the industries of other states on Oct. 1.

WOMENS CLUB BANQUET

Tuesday evening the members of the Women's Club held their annual banquet at the home of Mrs. G. R. Gardner, and the meeting was a most pleasant one and was attended by the full membership of the club. As this meeting marked the twentieth anniversary of the organization of the club it carried with it more significance than such gatherings generally do. Besides the banquet and regular program, there were a number of letters from former members of the organization which were read to the club. Among the old members who wrote to the club on this occasion were Mrs. Viola May, Mrs. E. T. Harmon, Mrs. H. S. Youker, Mrs. C. H. Smith, Mrs. J. W. Corbett, Mrs. J. S. Thomas, Miss Edna Michaels, Mrs. T. A. Lipke, Mrs. Lillian Gaskell, and Mrs. Victor Thompson.

CROP CONDITIONS

Synopsis of weather and crop conditions in Wisconsin for the week ending Tuesday, Sept. 17th. Cool weather and good general showers prevailed. Pastures improved, together with the conditions of the ground for plowing where it had previously been to dry. Corn did not mature rapidly, but the condition of the crop is generally good to excellent and much of it is now safe; the frost of last week did not extend far into the corn growing sections. Corn cutting, silo filling, harvesting of tobacco and cranberries, plowing and seeding of winter wheat progressed satisfactorily. The tobacco crop is the largest of record and is nearly all in shade. Potatoes are only fair, having suffered considerably by frost and drought of previous weeks; in the southern part of the state the vines are still green and with the vines of the week some improvement may be made if there is no frost. From such reports as were received sugar beets and buckwheat made good growth. Apples are light but made some growth during the week.

WHAT MIGHT HAPPEN

A number of our exchanges have been speculating on what would happen if the government took over the newspapers. Well the first thing the subscription price would be raised about 20 per cent and the sheriff would be kept busy chasing delinquents. The next step would be to raise wages about 25 per cent, and editors, who hadn't had a cent for six months could call their own, would be placed on a salary. The merchants who fail to get their ad copy in until press day would be faulted up before the council of editors and our linotype man who tried out for two weeks and quit his job in a week would be sent to Leavenworth for about ten years as a deserter. It looks like a good position and we're for it.—The Fairbury (Nebr.) News.

Eugene V. Hebs, socialist leader, charged with violating the espionage act was found guilty in his trial before the Federal jury at Cleveland, Ohio, on Thursday. He was found guilty of attempting to incite insubordination, disloyalty, etc., in the military and naval forces, attempting to obstruct recruiting and uttering language intended to incite, provoke and encourage resistance to the United States and to promote the cause of the enemy. The maximum penalty is twenty years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000. A motion for a new trial in the case was made on Saturday.

The best place for it now is in a silo.

With immature corn it is not a question of whether you can afford to buy one, it is a question whether you can afford NOT to buy one.

Last year farmers lost a great deal of fodder by it rotting in the shock. Are you going to run chances on losing your labor working your ground, planting the corn, cultivating, cutting and shocking, in addition to your high priced seed?

We have a few Silos on hand that you can get in 24 hours. After your foundation is in, in a day's time will have your Silo ready to fill.

If you can't pay for one in full, see us anyway. No doubt terms of payment can be arranged to suit you.

The New Fall Fashions Are Indeed Masterpieces in their New Found Simplicity and Effectiveness of Style

THEY represent the combined efforts of the greatest American and French designers, who have co-operated with as much success as the soldiers of the two great nations. Their success has made women's clothing for this season so handsome that it will surely make "America a PRETTIER place to live in"—so far as women's appearance is concerned, at least.

Undoubtedly the war has been the leading element in influencing designers to abandon all thoughts of fancy sensational styles and to favor the forceful, more elegant effects which only simplicity can produce.

SUITS and BLOUSES

The New Suits are Plain but Fascinating

Smartness of design and superior quality materials insure a very cordial reception for these coats, many of which are lavishly embellished with fur. Though conforming to the straight silhouette, there are many variations in methods of trimming which provide a note of pleasing individuality in every garment. The favored materials are velour, bolivia, suede-finished cloths, velvet, plush and other pile fabrics. Rich Fall colors add further interest to the display, which includes many of the fashionably modeled panels so much favored.

Priced from $75.00 to $12.50

Blouses of Simplicity and Beauty

The new blouses are in truth, beautiful; and yet, they owe their beauty to two elements—simplicity and color. Colorless styles predominate, although in many instances, a collar effect is given by the use of bead or embroidery trimmings. Tiny ruffles and pleats play an important part in the new blouses of crepe de Chine, Georgette, voile, an d other fabrics.

Priced from $17.50 to 95c

Opening Day September 20th

For one day only, we offer this year an extraordinary Fur Show. A special representative of the Albercht Fur Co. will be here with the largest selection of beautiful new furs we have ever shown. You should not miss this special showing.

Fashion Highly Favors Furs

Never have furs been more in demand than they are for Fall and Winter, 1918-1919. To be well dressed, fur in some form or other seems to be almost essential. These selections contain coats of many types, long and short; also stoles, collars, scarfs and muffs in many new and artistic shapes, made up of Hudson Seal, mole, squirrel, nutria, mink, muskrat, and Fox. The assortments are generous and prices moderate, affording splendid selections for those desiring to choose now to avoid the shortage of furs and the much higher prices certain to prevail later in the season.

Priced from $145.00 to $4.50

COATS and DRESSES

The New Coats Feature Simple Lines

Velours, men wear serge, silvertone, broadcloths and velvets are most prominent among the materials which Fashion has chosen for these artistic, becoming Fall suits. Medium length coats; semi-fitted skirts slightly longer than those of previous seasons; trimmings of fur, braid and buttons cleverly applied, various rich and pleasing shades of gray, brown and taupe together with staple blue and black for colors—these and other details combine this display of exceptional interest to women of fashion.

Priced from $75.00 to $24.75

New Dresses—Artistically Simple and Practical

The slender silhouette is the predominating feature. This is relieved of straightness by variations in trimmings such as fringed panels, quaint sashes, many kinds of beads and buttons, braid and embroidery effects. Silks and rich woolen weaves are both employed in the making—sometimes cleverly combined. Navy blue, black, tans, grays, taupes and Copenhagen blues share the honors in the color scheme.

Priced from $45 to $9.75

A War Time Achievement.

In these trying and turbulent days not a few radical changes are taking place, upsetting a good many theories and firm convictions that served well enough before "Hohenzollern" broke up the peace of the world. We are straining every muscle to keep abreast with the daily transformation of conditions, and have committed ourselves to a policy that is strictly in conformity with the conservation idea promulgated by our government. We have followed our "No Profiteering" idea eliminating wasteful and expensive methods of merchandising, so that we are able to say that we have "Hooverized" until our prices are down to a Rock Bottom standard.

If you need a coat this fall it will pay you to look over our line and see the splendid values and styles.

Here you will find coats made up of Wool Jersey, Wool Cheviot, Wool Velour, Seal Plush, Wool Burrella etc., some have nobby side pocket panels offset with buttons or pleats, others have nifty belt and pleat arrangements, with large collars and cuffs,—and lined with extra quality of Venetian and Satin linings. Prices range from $14.50 to $70.00

Ladies Fall Millinery

The New Fall Hats for Fall and Winter are Prettier Than Ever

They're here in a wonderful variety of bewitchingly tempting styles—all trimmed in the very latest effects—Each one more beautiful than the other. Every size of a hat is fashionable, while there is a great deal of black shown in millinery for Fall. Colors are equally as prominent. Our Milliner is busy creating new styles in order to satisfy our many customers, no two hats trimmed alike here. No woman these days cares to see her neighbor wearing the same style of hat that she is wearing. Ladies Millinery is the cheapest merchandise on the market at present, but velvets are getting scarce which will mean an advance in Millinery. Prices as usual are lower than the lowest.

Dorothy's Bad Manners.
My little niece, Margaret, had been promised a party. The time came for distributing the invitations and I went with Margaret. When we came to Dorothy's house I said: "I'll stay out here while you take Dorothy's invitation to her."
When she came out I said: "Did you give Dorothy her invitation?"
"Yes," said Margaret, "and I told her, 'you're welcome,' and she didn't even say 'thank you.'"—Chicago Tribune.

Right Back at Him.
She was noted for her quickness at repartee, also a habit of worrying over trifles or some unintentional slight. The young husband arrived home and found her in tears. An older, experienced husband would have taken a walk until she recovered, but this one tried to argue, and finally, losing patience, he said:
"Well, my dear, I can't provide you with brains."
Immediately came the reply which cleared the atmosphere: "I don't expect you to with your limited supply."

FAREWELL TO EBBETTS FIELD AS UNCLE SAM TAKES IT FOR COLD STORAGE PLANT

No more will the bleachers roar at the umpire or go wild over a home run at Ebbetts field, the big baseball diamond of the Brooklyn Nationals, as the government has commandeered it as a cold storage plant. According to Charles F. Ebbetts, owner of the club, Uncle Sam will try to make good use of it for the army and navy. Other famous ball fields, including the Polo grounds, home of the New York Giants, may also be taken over for similar purposes. It is heart-breaking to the fans, of course, but they realize that it is not a good-by, but an up-revoler, to baseball.

COMPARATIVELY YOUNG MEN CALLED VETERANS

Arthur Fletcher of the Giants, Zach Wheat of the Reds, and Tom Clark of the Reds, are the oldest players in point of service on their clubs in the National league. The three men all joined their respective teams in 1909. Now that Hans Wagner has retired from the diamond, Max Carey is the veteran player on the Pirates. He joined the club in 1910. Dick Rudolph did not become a Brave until 1913, but he has been with the club longer than any other of the present members. Two other players who are now the veterans of their teams joined their clubs the same year. They are Jim Vaughn of the Cubs and Bill Doak of the Cardinals.

LONG DRIVE WON HIM FIFTY

But Ray Schmandt's Check Covered Many Miles Before Reaching Him at Camp Pike.

Ray Schmandt, the former Brooklyn second baseman, is at last to receive his check for $50 for hitting the "bull" sign in Philadelphia last April. Schmandt posted the sign with a fine and earned the bonus, and his check was soon ready, but it has had a hard time catching up with him. The check was forwarded to Brooklyn and was to have been presented to Schmandt with much pomp and circumstance at Ebbetts field, but before it arrived he had been called by his draft board and had gone to St. Louis to see his family. The check was forwarded to St. Louis, but he had left for Camp Pike, Ark., in the meantime. His family forwarded it to Camp Pike, where he is a member of the Tenth training battalion.

TRUISM ON BASEBALL GAME

Pitched Balls That Are Near Enough to Be Called Strikes Are Good Enough to Hit At.

Major league batsmen who made a practice of heaving the umpires for doubtful balls and strikes never found any sympathy with Fred Clarke. The ex-Pirate leader once expressed a truism which should be drilled into every boy who gets into the national pastime. Wilbur Cooper brought out Clarke's little line following an argument in one of the games played by the Pirates at Jacksonville. Several of the Pittsburgh batters were complaining that the umpire "missed" some that were an inch or two from the corner of the plate.
"Well, boys," remarked Cooper, "I feel the same as Cap Clarke on pitched balls. If they're close enough to be called strikes, they're good enough to hit."

POSTWAR SPORT BOOM SEEN BY PILKINGTON

Jim Pilkington, president of the Association of Amateur Oarsmen, sees a brilliant prospect for all athletic sports when peace is declared, says the Great Lakes Bulletin, official naval station publication. Pilkington, whose active association with the government body in rowing goes back to 1876—within a decade of the end of the Civil war—believes that conditions following the great war will be much the same as those which were experienced here in the reconstruction period.
"The Civil war, or rather the ending of it, gave sport its impetus in this country," said Pilkington.
"The cause Uncle Sam is practically ranking athletics compulsory in the land and naval forces, hundreds and thousands of young men who never before engaged in sport have become active and enthusiastic athletes. It is easy to see what the result will be when the war ends."

FOOTBALL BOOMED BY PITT

Interest of Alumni and Public Being Maintained by Efforts of Publicity Committee.

University of Pittsburgh football authorities have adopted a novel but sensible plan for interesting their alumni and the general public in their football situation.

They have called attention to the testimony of President Wilson, Secretary Baker and Walter Camp, the latter in charge of training camp activities for the navy, that college sports mean so much in the development of soldiers, and more particularly the advantage they give to those men seeking commissions.

COLLEGE PLAYERS IN FAVOR

Team at Fields Point, R. I., Made Up Almost Entirely of Men From Brown University.

The Bethlehem Steel company is not counting its enlistments of ball players to the professional ranks. The team that represents its plant at Fields Point, R. I., is made up almost entirely of college men, most of them from Brown university. They may know little about building ships, but they can play a pretty good brand of baseball, which seems to be the main item.

DICK RUDOLPH BEEN PITCHING 14 YEARS

Passing of Time Doesn't Seem to Feaze Boston Star.

Started Twirling for Fordham College in 1905 and Rose Rapidly—Manager McGraw Once Sent Him Back to Minors.

Dick Rudolph, star heaver of the Boston Braves, has been pitching for 14 years, but the passing of time doesn't seem to feaze him.

He started pitching for Fordham college back in 1905, and two years later he was on his way to stardom as a member of the Toronto club of the old Eastern league, after having had a bit of additional seasoning with a semi-professional club at Rutland, Vt., and with New Haven in the Connecticut league.

His first full season with Toronto was a busy one, for he took part in 31 games, winning 13 and losing eight. After that he developed rapidly, and on three occasions won more than 20 games a season for the Maple Leafs.

In 1911, Rudolph was given a trial by the Giants, but John McGraw did not believe he was ready for the big show and sent him back to the Toronto club. That decision was one of the mistakes McGraw has made in judging players, and he has regretted it ever since, for in 1913 Rudolph was traded to the Boston club, and what he has done in the way of standing National league batters on their heads is too well known to repeat here.

Rudolph was a holdout this season late in May, when he finally came to terms with the Braves and signed his contract. In his first start of the season he beat the Reds, letting Matty's team down with one hit, and he proved conclusively that he has lost none of his cunning in the box.

Early in the spring he tried to purchase his release from the Braves for $10,000, but could not put the deal over. Manager Stallings knows well what he is worth.

Dick Rudolph.

Get New Kidneys!

The kidneys are the most overworked organs of the human body, and when they fail in their work of filtering waste and throwing off the poisons developed in the system, things begin to happen.
One of the first warnings is pain or stiffness in the lower part of the back, highly colored urine; loss of appetite; indigestion; irritation, or even stone in the bladder. These symptoms indicate a condition that may lead to that dreaded and fatal malady, Bright's disease, for which there is said to be no cure.
Do not delay a minute. At the first indication of trouble in the kidney, liver, bladder or urinary organs start taking Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules, and save yourself before it is too late. Immediate treatment is necessary in kidney and bladder troubles. A delay is often fatal.
You can almost certainly find immediate relief in Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules. For more than 200 years this famous preparation has been an unending remedy for all kidney, bladder and urinary troubles.
It is the pure, original Haarlem Oil your great-grandmother used. About two capsules each day will keep you toned up and feeling fine. Get it at any drug store, and if it does not give you almost immediate relief, your money will be refunded. Be sure you get the GOLD MEDAL brand. None other genuine. In boxes, three sizes.—Adv.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Need to Pass the Crisis Safely—roof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Can Be Relied Upon.

Urbana, Ill.—"During Change of Life, in addition to its annoying symptoms, I had an attack of grippe which lasted all winter and left me in a weakened condition. I felt at times that I would never be well again. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it did for women passing through the Change of Life, so I told my doctor I would try it. I soon began to gain in strength and the annoying symptoms a diagnosis made me a well, strong woman so I do all my own housework. I cannot recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly to women passing through the Change of Life."

SAYS EMPLOYERS MAY GET STATE "IN BAD"

Madison, Wis., Sept. 14.—Because of the failure of Wisconsin employers to file their applications for help with the United States Employment bureau located in all of the different cities of the state, and because upwards of one hundred employers in the state have failed to file any reports showing that their men were needed to do war necessities work, this state may be called upon to furnish upwards of 6,000 laborers to other states on Oct. 1. This is the statement of Chairman George F. Hambrecht of the Wisconsin Industrial commission who has charge of the United States labor problem in Wisconsin. Hambrecht said that on Aug. 1, Wisconsin was called upon to furnish 6,500 men for war labor before Oct. 1. Today upwards of 9,000 applications have been filed. He said that many employers were hiring the men independently and not through the labor bureau and as a result the state was not receiving its proper credit. (Unless the employers file as required by law, it is probable that this state may be required to send upwards of 6,000 men into the industries of other states on Oct. 1.)

WOMEN'S CLUB BANQUET

Thursday evening the members of the Women's Club held their annual banquet at the home of Mrs. G. R. Gardner, and the meeting was a most pleasant one and was attended by the full membership of the club. As the anniversary of the organization of the club it carried with it more significance than such gatherings generally do. Besides the banquet and regular program, there were a number of letters from former members of the organization which were read to the club. Among the old members who wrote to the club on this occasion were Mrs. Viola May, Mrs. E. T. Harmon, Mrs. H. S. Youker, Mrs. C. H. Smith, Mrs. J. W. Cortright, Mrs. J. E. Thomas, Miss Etta Michaud, Mrs. T. A. Lipko, Miss Lillian Gaskill, and Mrs. Victor Thompson.

CROP CONDITIONS

Synopsis of weather and crop conditions in Wisconsin for the week ending Tuesday, Sept. 17th. Cool weather and good general showers prevailed. Pastures, ranges, and some late crops were improved, together with the conditions of the ground for planting. Potatoes had previously been to dry. Corn did not mature rapidly, but the condition of the crop is generally good to excellent and much of it now safely above ground. Last week did not extend far into the corn growing sections. Corn cutting, silo filling, harvesting of tobacco and cranberries, plowing and seeding of winter wheat progressed satisfactorily. The tobacco crop is the largest of record and is nearly all in sheds. Potatoes are only fair, having suffered considerably by frost and drought of previous weeks; in the southern part of the state the vines are still green and with the rains of the week some improvement may be made if there is no frost. From such reports as were received sugar beets and buckwheat made good growth. Light rains are light but made good growth during the week.

W. P. STEWART, Meteorologist.

WHAT MIGHT HAPPEN

A number of our exchanges have been speculating on what would happen if the government took over the subscription price would be raised about 50 per cent and the sheriff would be kept busy chasing delinquents. The next step would be to raise wages about 25 per cent, and editors, who hadn't had a cent in six months they could call their own, would be placed on a salary. The merchants who fail to get their act in order in time would be hauled up before the council of defense and our linotype man who fired out for two weeks and quit his job in a week would be sent to Leavenworth for about ten years as a deserter. It looks like a good proposition and we're for it.—The Fairbury (Nebr.) News.

Eugene V. Debs, socialist leader, charged with violating the espionage act was found guilty in his trial before the Federal jury at Cleveland, Ohio, on Thursday. He was found guilty of attempting to incite insubordination, disloyalty, etc., in the military and naval forces; attempting to obstruct recruiting and uttering language intended to incite, provoke and encourage resistance to the United States and to promote the cause of the enemy. The maximum penalty is twenty years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000. A motion for a new trial in the case was made on Saturday.

The New Fall Fashions Are Indeed Masterpieces in their New Found Simplicity and Effectiveness of Style

THEY represent the combined efforts of the greatest American and French designers, who have co-operated with as much success as the soldiers of the two great nations. Their success has made women's clothing for this season so handsome that it will surely make "America a PRETTIER place to live in"—so far as women's appearance is concerned, at least.

Undoubtedly the war has been the leading element in influencing designers to abandon all thoughts of fancy sensational styles and to favor the forceful, more elegant effects which only simplicity can produce.

SUITS and BLOUSES

The New Suits are Plain but Fascinating. Smartness of design and superior quality materials insure a very cordial reception for these coats, many of which are lavishly embellished with fur. Though conforming to the straight silhouette, there are many variations in methods of trimming which provide a note of pleasing individuality in every garment. The favored materials are velour, bolivia, suede-finished cloths, velvet, plush and other pile fabrics. Rich Fall colors add further interest to the display, which includes many of the fashionably modeled panels so much favored.

Priced from $75.00 to $12.50

Blouses of Simplicity and Beauty

The new blouses are in truth, beautiful; and yet, they owe their beauty to two elements—simplicity and color. Colorless styles predominate, although in many instances, a collar effect is given by the use of bead or embroidery trimmings. T. tiny ruffles and pleats play an important part in the new blouses of crepe de Chine, Georgette, voile, and other fabrics.

Opening Day September 20th

For one day only, we offer this year an extraordinary Fur Showing. A special representative of the Albercht Fur Co. will be here with the largest selection of beautiful new furs we have ever shown. You should not miss this special showing.

Fashion Highly Favors Furs

Never have furs been more in demand than they are for Fall and Winter, 1918-1919. To be well dressed, fur in some form or other seems to be almost essential. These selections contain coats of many types, long and short; also stoles, collars, scarfs and muffs in many new and artistic shapes, made up of Hudson Seal, mole, squirrel, nutria, mink, muskrat, and Fox. The assortments are generous and prices moderate, affording splendid selections for those desiring to choose now to avoid the shortage of furs and the much higher prices certain to prevail later in the season.

Priced from $145.00 to $4.50

COATS and DRESSES

The New Coats Feature Simple Lines

Velours, men wear serge, silvertone, broadcloths and velvets are most prominent among the materials which Fashion has chosen for these artistic, becoming Fall suits. Medium length coats; semi-tailored skirts slightly longer than those of previous seasons; trimmings of fur, braid and buttons cleverly applied, various rich and pleasing shades of gray, brown and taupe together with staple blue and black for color—these and other details combine this display of exceptional interest to women of fashion.

Priced from $75.00 to $24.75

New Dresses—Artistically Simple and Practical

The slender silhouette is the predominating feature. This is relieved of straightness by variations in trimmings such as fringed panels, quaint sashes, many kinds of beads and buttons, braid and embroidery effects. Silks and rich woolen weaves are both employed in the making—sometimes cleverly combined. Navy blue, black, tans, grays, taupes and Copenhagen blues share the honors in the color scheme.

Priced from $45 to $9.75

COHEN BROS. DEPT. STORE

A War Time Achievement.

In these trying and turbulent days not a few radical changes are taking place, upsetting a good many theories and firm convictions that served well enough before "Hohenzollern" broke up the peace of the world. We are straining every muscle to keep abreast with the daily transformation of conditions, and have committed ourselves to a policy that is strictly in conformity with the conservation idea promulgated by our government. We have followed our "No Profiteering" idea eliminating wasteful and expensive methods of merchandising, so that we are able to say that we have "Hooverized" until our prices are down to a Rock Bottom standard.

If you need a coat this fall it will pay you to look over our line and see the splendid values and styles.

Here you will find coats made up of Wool Jersey, Wool Cheviot, Wool Velour, Seal Plush, Wool Burrella etc., some have nobby side pocket panels offset with buttons or pleats, others have nifty belt and pleat arrangements, with large collars and cuffs,—and lined with extra quality of Venetian and Satin linings. Prices range from ————— $14.50 to $70.00

They're here in a wonderful variety of bewitchingly tempting styles—all trimmed in the very latest effects—Each one more beautiful than the other. Every size of a hat is fashionable, while there is a great deal of black shown in millinery for Fall. Colors are equally as prominent. Our Milliner is busy creating new styles in order to satisfy our many customers, no two hats trimmed alike here. No woman these days cares to see her neighbor wearing the same style of hat that she is wearing. Ladies Millinery is the cheapest merchandise on the market at present, but velvets are getting scarce which will mean an advance in Millinery. Prices as usual are lower than the lowest.
